E-Commerce & Communications

Since the beginning of my term as Administrator for the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division, customers have been hearing my goals of creating efficiencies, improving customer service and utilizing eCommerce. In the May issue of this publication I shared that the Division had been working diligently to increase and enhance our utilization of online and social customer service.

I'm happy to say that we now send all of our communications, notifications and publications out via email as well as post them to IowaABD.com. (See graphic below to find online pricing publications.) As we prepare to move into 2014, the Division will cease printing and distributing publications in paper form. The single exception will be this Iowa Liquor Quarterly magazine which will continue to serve as a customer price list for the foreseeable future.

If we do not already have your email, please send it to Dusold@IowaABD.com with your license and/or account numbers so you can be added to the appropriate electronic communications lists. Providing your email address will allow us to notify you of new online services coming in the future such as online ordering and pricing information.

You will also be able to participate in surveys, submit comments and ask questions, all of which will help the Division provide you with better customer service in every area. I want your feedback in the coming months on how the Division is doing and what information you need from us in order to be successful. The efforts to improve communications are driven by my belief that customer service must be a top priority.

Moving more of the Division's services online will give licensees better, faster and constant access to our resources. Moreover, online and social customer service allow us to serve you on the networks where you are already spending time. Most importantly, these tools will improve the Division's customer service and satisfaction.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety.

More information such as printed materials and DVDs are available. Visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, TrafficSafetyMarketing.gov, and StopDruggedDriving.org.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy.

Remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers.

DON'T FORGET: Drive sober or get pulled over and buzzed driving is drunk driving.

NEARLY 23% of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

WAREHOUSE RECEIVER

What are your duties as a Warehouse Receiver?

As a receiver I am responsible for unloading all the trucks that deliver product to our warehouse. I need to make sure all the product is accounted for and not damaged before accepting it. Once I am done unloading the trucks, I put all the inventory into the warehouse system and then away in the proper slots on the floor. On days where we have fewer trucks, I also assist in picking orders for customers.

with truck drivers can also be interesting. Most of them are very nice individuals with great stories from around the county.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

The warehouse is a very busy place and the work can't stop or our customers don't get their product. Unexpected deliveries and events can be a challenge for all when trying to stay on time. Another challenge is finding enough time to make sure all my pallets and other work essential tools are put away.

What do you do in your free time?

In my free time I enjoy hanging out with my wife and our two Chihuahuas, Peka and Molly. When I am not playing with or walking the dogs, you can find me watching or playing sports. My favorite sports are baseball (Go Cubs!) and golf. Attending different sporting events around town is also a favorite activity of mine. The Bucs hockey games and Iowa Hawkeye football games are always a good time.

What is your favorite part of your job?

My favorite part of my job is interacting with a wide variety of people. Each person has a different personality and sense of humor, making the day move along quickly. Interacting

VODKA'S SWEET SUCCESS

While solid growth continues in mainstay vodka, the boost from the flavor business is sweet and significant.

Strawberry Shortcake, Orange Cream Pop, Iced Cake, Candy Cane, Sugar Cookie, Pumpkin Spice, Root Beer Float, Rainbow Sherbet. When it comes to vodka flavors, liquor shelves seem to be turning into dessert aisles. Sweet expressions are not the only new coming out of the ever-growing vodka behemoth. SKUs (stock-keeping units) of all sorts crowd retailers' shelves. Low-cal offerings are emerging, new brands establishing footholds, off-beat niches finding eager-to-experiment consumers. The category is vast and varied enough to accommodate virtually every taste, trend, and interest.

"Vodka is an extremely dynamic category in the United States market; it continues to move up strongly, tirelessly, and shows no signs of slowing down," points out Leonid Yangarber, CEO of Russian Standard USA. "Vodka is very versatile, which makes it accessible for many types of consumers—males, females, different age groups. The strength of the category is remarkable.”

Flavors are a really big trend that has had longevity, driving phenomenal growth the last couple of years across the entire category for vodka.

The chief characteristic of the vast vodka category is innovation and product churn. A number of contenders are launching new and noteworthy products into the marketplace.

Although flashy flavors grab most of the media attention, the workhorse of the vodka category is still the original, unflavored, 80 proof product, which continues to shoulder the bulk of growth. “The unflavored vodka category is steadily growing and remains the lion’s share of vodka consumption,” says Jason Daniel, brand director for Skyy Vodka.

Flavor is the big story in the vodka category, as it is across the spirits spectrum. “It’s about flavor, flavor, flavor,” enthuses

Diana Pawlik, vice president of marketing for Svedka Vodka. “Flavors are a really big trend that has had longevity, driving phenomenal growth the last couple of years across the entire category for vodka.”

“Currently, confectionary vodkas are driving sales by delivering more playful and decadent flavors, beyond fruit, that appeal to the female flavored-vodka drinker,” says Brad Essig, VP Vodka North America for Diageo.

“Millenials grew up with a global, more exotic, and curious palate with access to premium and intriguing ingredients at Whole Foods, Trader Joe’s, farmers’ markets, and elsewhere. It is only natural they are exploring new taste options with vodka,” reports Skyy Vodka’s Daniel.

PICK A FLAVOR, ANY FLAVOR!

Boost your sales of flavored vodka by promoting a few different flavors each month. Encourage your customers to try a variety of flavored vodkas in their favorite mixed drinks.

When you walk into Backpocket Brewing, the craft brewing experience completely surrounds you. The first thing you see are massive beer tanks and the inner workings of a brewery. Backpocket wanted to focus on being a brewery first and restaurant second. In the taproom the experience is immersive, you are in the beer making process. There are no separating walls or glass; you can hear all the brewing sounds, smell the fermentation and see how the beer is made right in front of you. You can also choose to sit outside and enjoy your food and drink in the beer garden, complete with cozy fire pit.

Backpocket distributes both draft and packaged beer and is available regionally, mainly in the surrounding areas. They make twelve different kinds of beer: four are regulars and served year-round. All twelve brews are different, ranging from dark to light. Sticking close to the German style of beer making, they are easy to drink, yet still full of flavor.

Each beer's moniker comes from something that you may find in your own back pocket.

When asked which of his twelve beers are his favorite, Brew master and part owner, Jake Simmons replied, "That is like asking me to choose my favorite child, I can't pick just one." However, for newcomers he recommends trying the Wooden Nickel for it's distinctive flavor.

Since the menu offerings are limited, Backpocket believes if they are only going to serve one thing, it had better be done right. They want to improve upon simple American staples such as beer and pizza. They offer many different kinds of brick oven pizza, five classics and one weekly special for the adventurous customer.

The pizza is cooked right in front of you and has a very unique taste unlike any other. They're brick oven fired, using the freshest ingredients such as fresh spinach, tomatoes, mushrooms and kalamata olives. If you are not sure what kinds of craft beer to try with your pizza, start with the sampler tray. You get to try five different beers ranging from light to dark. The waiter will even explain the order in which to drink each beer to get the best experience.

The usual crowd at Backpocket is a mix of grad students, locals, young and old. This is not a typical college town bar; the focus is the craft beer experience and bringing the community together.

Even though they have only been open for about a year, Backpocket has had a huge involvement in the community. The owners believe in supporting the community that supports you and staying local. Being able to associate with the city is a passion of theirs. Organized events such as races, bike rides, gatherings, clubs, festivals and movie nights are put on to bring the locals together.

Backpocket Brewing shows that beer can connect with communities in more ways than one by getting people out of their comfort zone and enjoying things they wouldn't normally try. Backpocket Brewing hosted a party for the Mug Club, where they sold a limited number of mugs. The mugs remain at the pub all year, but each mug is numbered so patrons drink out of their own mug when they visit. Being part of the Mug Club entitles customers to one dollar off all large pours and at the end of the year, members get to take their mug home.

Every Thursday night during the summer, they host movies in the beer garden. They only show classics, nothing from less than fifteen years ago. During RAGBRAI they operated a mobile beer garden in towns across Iowa. They even started their own event, Brrrfest, involving 35 breweries from the surrounding area. The fest came to be from Simmons' passion to promote beer culture in Iowa City.

Backpocket Brewing offers a unique, welcoming, and even educational craft brew experience. Stop over and try one of their many different beers or a brick oven pizza for a fresh take on American classics.

“The truth is, you can tell a lot about a man by what he keeps in his back pocket”

LEGALLY SPEAKING

JUST A TASTE

Product tastings are becoming more popular than ever, especially with so many innovative products entering the alcoholic beverage market. Tastings can be an effective way to encourage adult consumers to sample and compare products while providing the opportunity to learn more about the types and brands before paying for a full-size product.

With so much interest in tastings, the Division has seen an increase in questions from retailers on their legality. The following information should clarify how alcoholic beverage tastings may be conducted legally.

Who can conduct a tasting at on- and off-premise licensed establishments?

Liquor industry members are allowed to conduct tastings of product at retail establishments. Product that the industry member will use in a tasting must be checked out as samples from ABD or may be purchased from the retailer at no more than the ordinary retail price. A tasting cannot be a means to provide a retailer with free merchandise.

Retailers are allowed to conduct tastings on their own without an industry member present as long as the product being tasted was purchased through the three-tier system at their own cost. Industry members are not permitted to give product to a retailer for the retailer to conduct a tasting. An industry member is prohibited from acting as a bartender or in any other capacity in the serving of an alcoholic beverage, if the alcoholic beverage tasted is owned by the retailer.

Who is considered an industry member?

Industry member means an alcoholic beverages manufacturer, including a distiller, vintner or brewer, bottler, importer, wholesaler, jobber, representative, broker, agent, officer, director, shareholder, partner or employee of each of the above.

Can a tasting be conducted on an unlicensed premise?

Beer and wine can be tasted on an unlicensed premise. Liquor must be tasted on a liquor licensed premises.

Can a retailer charge a fee for a tasting on their licensed premises?

An off-premise licensee may not collect a fee of any sort from a consumer participating in a tasting. An on-premise licensee may charge for a tasting.

Can an off-premise retailer charge a fee for a food class and include a tasting with the food being served?

No, requiring a consumer to pay for the food class while having access to a tasting would constitute an indirect sale of alcoholic beverage by the glass.

Who can participate in a tasting?

Persons participating in a tasting must be 21 years or older and may not be intoxicated.

What is the legal amount that a retailer or industry member may give as a tasting?

ABD recommends a one ounce tasting.

The administrative rule states "indicia" of a tasting and the word "indicia" is not defined in the rule.

ABD cautions industry members that the amount of product you provide as a tasting cannot be a way to provide a retailer with free merchandise.

When can I hold a tasting?

Tastings may be conducted during the hours which alcoholic beverages may be legally sold and served.

How much can an individual consume?

There is no restriction as to how many samples an individual can receive at a tasting, but it is the responsibility of the licensee to ensure that no one is over served.

An off-premise licensee utilizing a tasting as a means to serve alcohol without an on-premise license is in violation of bootlegging.

Conclusion

Before conducting a tasting, the Division recommends licensees check with the local authority (city clerk or county auditor) to determine if there is an ordinance governing tastings. If so, the ordinance applies. The Division also suggests off-premise licensees notify their insurance provider prior to conducting a tasting.

Tastings can be a valuable asset in promoting products, but keep this information in mind when conducting a tasting. As always, compliance related questions can be answered by contacting the Division at 515.281.7414.
